RECOMMENDATION LETTER

17th August 2026

To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing to highly recommend Daniel Karume for any mobile engineering position or technical endeavor he chooses to pursue. As a Mobile Developer at APE Technologies LTD, Daniel has been a core contributor to our flagship project, XapXap, demonstrating exceptional technical expertise, ownership, and problem-solving drive.

During his time working on XapXap, Daniel was instrumental in architecting and implementing key mobile features, including low-bitrate media streaming optimization, and responsive UI components built for high performance across diverse mobile hardware. His proficiency in mobile optimization and clean architecture consistently elevated our internal development standards and overall product quality.

Beyond his technical competency, Daniel is a proactive teammate who takes full accountability for his deliverables. He communicates technical concepts clearly, debugs complex issues efficiently, and approaches product development with a strong focus on user experience and efficiency.

Daniel would be an immediate asset to any engineering team. I strongly endorse his application and welcome any further inquiries regarding his work and contributions.

Sincerely,

Samuel Macharia
